By Car from Florence or Rome via A1 Autostrada

- Take the Autostrada A1 going south from Florence or north from Rome.
- Exit the A1 at Orvieto.
- After the toll booth, turn right towards Orvieto Scalo. Go straight through a small roundabout with a shopping center called Porta d'Orvieto/COOP.
- Continue on and when you reach the large roundabout of Orvieto Scalo take the first exit to your right following the sign that says "Ciconia/Ospedale" (there is also a reserved right side lane for that turn off).
- Go straight across a roundabout, over the bridge and then pass 3 small roundabouts always going straight across following signs for Todi/Colonna di Prodo (road name SS79bis).
- Drive circa 2 km. and take the fork to your left downhill following the blue sign S. Bartolomeo / Padella.
- Drive for approx. 2.5 km. and after passing a group of houses (Padella town), turn left at a small intersection indicated by a sign that reads "San Bartolomeo" and a wooden sign of "Antica Olivaia" (gauge the kms. travelled carefully and this will help).
- Drive another 3.5 km and then the asphalted road will turn to gravel (you'll see a little shrine on your right) and right after that it turns to asphalt again and you will see us right in front of you coming down the curve.

By Car from Siena or from Viterbo via SS2 Cassia

- Take the Superstrada SS2 from either Viterbo or Siena and once you reach the Lake of Bolsena general area you will see signs for Orvieto and the SS71 Umbro-Casentinese.
- Take the SS71 passing exits for small towns like Castel Giorgio, Sugano, Canonica and Villanova and Porano on either side.
- Follow the curves all the way down and you will see Orvieto rising up on your right (lovely belvedere spot for taking photos) and arrive at Tamburino. Continue straight following signs for Orvieto and pass a TAMOIL gas station.
- At the stop sign turn right (Gabelletta/Strada dell'Arcone area) and continue on for circa 3.5 kilometers until you reach the large roundabout of Orvieto Scalo.
- Take the 2nd exit to your right following signs for "Ciconia/Ospedale"
- Go straight across a roundabout, over the bridge and then pass 3 small roundabouts always going straight across following signs for Todi/Colonna di Prodo (ss79bis).
- Drive circa 2 km. and take the fork to your left downhill following the blue sign S. Bartolomeo / Padella.
- Drive for approx. 2.5 km. and after passing a group of houses (Padella town), turn left at a small intersection indicated by a sign that reads "San Bartolomeo" and a wooden sign of "Antica Olivaia" (gauge the kms travelled carefully and this will help).
- Drive another 3.5 km and then the asphalted road will turn to gravel (you'll see a little shrine on your right) and right after that it turns to asphalt again and you will see us right in front of you coming down the curve.

By Car from Perugia/Todi via E45

- Take the super highway E45 from Perugia/Assisi going south towards Todi and Terni for circa 46 km.
- Exit the E45 at Todi (do not exit at Marsciano even though your navigator might tell you to...you'll thank us later!).
- You'll see the hilltop town of Todi in front of you and to your left. Take the SS448 towards Baschi & Orvieto following the coastal road of the Lake Corbara for about 16 km (Do not take other side roads that indicate Orvieto as these pass through mountain roads.)
- At a certain point you will come to a fork, follow the signs for Orvieto (right turn) and you will pass over the A1 highway by way of a bridge. Always continue straight on and the road becomes the SS205 which coasts the A1 highway.
- At a certain point you will note the A1 toll booth entrance and exit on your right but continue straight on.
- Go straight through a small roundabout with a shopping center called Porta d'Orvieto/COOP.
- Continue on and when you reach the large roundabout of Orvieto Scalo take the first exit to your right following the sign that says "Ciconia/Ospedale" (there is also a reserved right side lane for that turn off).
- Go straight across a roundabout, over the bridge and then pass 3 small roundabouts always going straight across following signs for Todi/Colonna di Prodo (ss79bis).

- Drive another 3.5 km and then the asphalted road will turn to gravel (you'll see a little shrine on your right) and right after that it turns to asphalt again and you will see us right in front of you coming down the curve.

By Train

Take a regional or intercity train from Florence or Rome (or switch at one of these major cities) and get off at the Orvieto train station. Either take a taxi located in front of the station by the Funicular to the farmhouse or reserve a private pickup with Daniela beforehand via e-mail (between Euro 30-40 one way).

If you pick up your rental car at Hertz in front of the Orvieto train station, turn out of the SOCA gas station or Hertz office going down the road through the flashing traffic light on the Via dei Sette Martiri road until you reach a large roundabout at Orvieto Scalo. Turn right on the 3rd exit on that major roundabout and follow the last 4 directions above.
